

SAGOLA TOWNSHIP/CHANNING CEMETERY

Section 17, M-95, Channing

Sagola Township, Dickinson County, Michigan

Burials in the present Sagola Township/Channing Cemetery started in 1912, after William and Raymond Shay and Erwin Miller cleared the land and prepared the site for the township cemetery. Several transients were the first to be buried here, and one of the first village residents to be interred in this cemetery was Lincoln Anderson in 1914.

Prior to the establishment of this cemetery, there was another burial ground known as the Sagola Township Cemetery, also located in Section 17, but further out on the road, near the Ford River. This cemetery is inactive, and no grave markers remain. Tombstones recorded in these records bearing death dates prior to 1912 could have been moved to the new cemetery.

The Dickinson County Genealogical Society read the tombstones in this cemetery on June 20, 1981. This cemetery is owned by Sagola Township and is active.

NOTE: Tombstone inscriptions have been recorded by plot, and all burials with markers are recorded together under the prevailing surname. Individual markers with different surnames are also indexed under that surname. [Am Leg = American Legion; VFW = Veteran of Foreign Wars]
